Clam Bisque, pinteno cream—Wash two quarts of clams in shells, put in a kettle, add one-half cupful of cold water and cook until shells are partially opened. Strain liquor through a double thickness of cheesecloth and add enough hot water to make one quart of liquid. Melt three tablespoonsful of butter and stir until brown, add three and one-half table-spoonsful of flour and continue the browning; then pour on gradually, while stirring constantly, the hot liquid. Bring to the boiling point and let simmer twenty minutes. Add one-half teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of paprika and one cupful of thin cream or top milk. Serve in bouillon cups with pinteno cream. Pinteno cream. Beat one-half cupful of heavy cream until stiff. Add the beaten white of one-half egg, two table-spoonsful of pinteno puree and a few grains of salt. To obtain the white puree, drain canned pintenos, dry on a towel and force through sieve.

CARTMENS ARE ARISTOCRATS.
Cuban Sugar Cane Grows Like Weeds.

Sugar in Cuba does not worry the Cubans. It just grows with very little attention. Farm and Fireside says about the sugar cane:

"It just keeps on growing, and he can cut it next year. And instead of spoiling by a month's, a six months' or a year's delay, the two years' growth makes almost as much sugar as two crops."

"However, it is much better, aside from needed ready money, to cut the cane every year. The cutting begins about the first of November and lasts until May or June. These months are driest in Cuba, and dry weather is essential for hauling. As to Cuban roads when it rains—well, they are at least as bad as ours."

"The cane is usually cut and hauled by contract. The cutters this year got 90 cents a ton for cutting, which includes stripping. It is hauled to the mill in two-wheeled carts pulled by three or four yoke of oxen. Four to six tons are hauled at a load."

"The cartmen are the aristocrats of the cane field. They get 60 cents a ton for hauling any distance under a mile and a half, more if it is farther. A cartman often makes, at the present scale, $10 a day."

AUTO OWNERS HAVE ALL GOT LICENSES

Hundreds Who Had Not Paid Their State Tax Escape Arrest.

The campaign of the sheriff's office to force auto owners to pay their state license for the year has been in progress for the past several weeks and, according to Sheriff Woolley, Tulsa county auto owners have all procured their taxes or ordered them. Nearly five hundred auto owners called at the sheriff's office during the past few weeks and ordered their licenses, while others have taken warning and procured them without troubling to consult the sheriff. The state highway commission has been making war on auto owners all over the state who have failed to procure their licenses and it was expected that wholesale arrests would be necessary to force those of Tulsa county to comply with the law, but such has not proved the case.

Many cars about the county are now equipped with placards issued by the sheriff showing that licenses have been ordered and that the sheriff has been apprised of it, but the tax has not yet been received. These placards must be submitted until the tax is received or the owner is liable to be arrested.

The sheriff said yesterday that nearly $2,000 worth of licenses had been ordered through his office and so far as he knew there was not an auto owner in the county who had not procured a 1916 license.

M'CORMICK TO BOSS OR WILL QUIT POST

Democratic Chairman Says He Is Tired of McAdoo's Interference.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, again has come to the front as the big Democratic "issue." He has dropped a bunch of wrenches and a handful of bombs into the campaign machinery. The party leaders are standing back, waiting to see whether there is to be an explosion, or whether President Wilson will interfere and put an end to the trouble.

Here are the day's developments in the Democratic campaign: Vance McCormick is reported to have told some of the leaders who met yesterday to take the national chairmanship that he is going to be "the real chairman, or get out." McCormick is said to be tired of having McAdoo dictate how the campaign shall be conducted. His view is to President Wilson yesterday was said to have been for the purpose of finding out who was "boss" in the Democratic headquarters.

The Democratic organization in this state is thoroughly angry at what is termed "McAdoo interference." The secretary of the treasury has reopened the old fight on William F. McAdoo, the state Democratic senator, for the nomination for United States senator. McAdoo is said to be determined that the one-time national chairman shall not go to the senate. The state organization has issued orders that "all" casts McCombs must be put over."

Opposition to McCombs is believed to be based on the fear that if he were elected he would be the national representative of the state organization and therefore would be able to sidetrack McAdoo, who is credited with still cherishing the ambition to be governor.

Whatever may be the conflicting interests under the surface, it is certain that bitter feeling has developed in the political camp in the last few days. The McAdoo faction is in control. Those not in favor are being shunted into obscure positions.

Twenty-Five Years Hence.
"I wonder what the next president of Europe looks like?"

"Yes, dear, we can enter New York in our car on the 31st, two weeks from today—and stay three hours. Here's the permit."

"The air was so crowded today." "Do you know, I forgot yesterday was election day. I'm going to put it down in my engagement book next year."

"I had a delightful conversation yesterday with a new congressman from Mexico. He seems like a bright, capable fellow."

"Don't you think you'd better wear something on the avenue, dear? There's a slight chill in the air."

A Simple Way Out.
She—Now that you've got a raise of sixty a month, Tom, we can afford a more expensive flat.

He—But we're very comfortable here. How would it be if I ask the landlord to raise our rent?

TEXAS COLLISION KILLS THREE MEN

Steam Shovel Worker and Two Negroes Dead; Others Injured.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 8.—As a result of a rear-end collision between a freight and a work train of the International & Great Northern, about one-half mile from Lillian, R. W. Martin, steam shovel man, residing at Lockhart, and two negroes, Mose Mann and Jim Taylor of Riverside, were instantly killed Friday morning about 8 o'clock. Two other negroes, Gus Lowe of Port Arthur and F. Z. Watkins of Mart, were also injured. Conductor Donk Clark of the work train received a sprained ankle and was taken to his home at Mart. The bodies of the dead and injured were brought to Fort Worth.

OKLAHOMA MINERS LEAVE CONVENTION

Threatened Strike Is Delayed by Withdrawal From Negotiations.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 8.—The decision in the threatened coal mine strike again has been delayed, as the result of a break in the conference ranks by which the Oklahoma miners withdrew from those of Missouri, Kansas and Arkansas in the negotiations. The announcement of the withdrawal was made today. It was said the general conference might convene late today.

The withdrawal of the Oklahoma operators, which was decided upon last night, took R. J. Jordan, of that state, from membership of the subcommittee, which had decided upon a disagreement. Mr. Jordan said the operators of his state had decided they could accomplish more by dealing with the miners individually than through the association.

The appointment of W. J. Jenkins, of the Missouri operators, as the new member of the subcommittee to succeed D. J. Jordan, of Oklahoma, whose delegation withdrew from the negotiations, was announced today. Mr. Jenkins began his work at once.

No session of the general conference will be held today as the subcommittee wishes to go further into the counter-proposals.

STORIES OF PRIVATE WARS.

Any Pretend Would Serve to Start a Conflict in Feudal Times.

"Of the many privileges conferred on the nobles of Europe by the feudal system none was more jealously guarded or more frequently exercised than the right of 'vassalage' private wars," writes Doctor MacMillan in the Scottish Review. "This lawless custom was the cause of untold misery, barbarity, ruin and desolation. Upon the slightest pretext—often a feudal feud—nobles fought for their lands, and in a manner scarcely credible at the present day."

We find a declaration of war from a private individual, Henry Mayenburg, against the emperor; another from the Lord Praunstein against Frankfurt, because a young lady of the city refused to dance with his uncle, another in 1456 from the bakers of Baden against Eslingen, Reutlingen, and other imperial cities; another in 1457 from the bakers of the cities of Augsburg, Ulm and Rothen, one in 1471 from the shoemakers of the University of Leipzig against the provost and some other members, and one in 1477 from a cook of Eppenstein, with his scullions, dairy-maids and dishwashers against Otto, count of Solms."

"But this lawless and mischievous spirit did not expire with the abolition of the right of private war."

TO DO BUSINESS IN KANSAS

Retailers Fire Insurance Company Will Work Out of State, Too.

Special to The World.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8.—Alfred Hare, president of the Retailers Fire Insurance company of Oklahoma City, has gone to Kansas where he will make application to the proper source for entrance into that state to do insurance business. Mr. Hare several days ago deposited $100,000 worth of securities with the state treasurer here. Kansas is the first state outside of Oklahoma in which application has been made to do business. The company considered one of the most substantial in the state.

SEVERAL HAY BARNS BURN NEAR AFTON

Lightning Strikes Building on C. B. Wells' Farm Burning Animals.

Special to The World.
AFTON, Okla., Sept. 8.—This week has been a hard week on hay barns as two have burned in Afton territory. C. B. Wells, who lives seven miles north of Afton, lost his barn of hay the first of the week when it was struck by lightning during a small storm. The barn was struck and three head of horses, a mule and the barn of hay and feed were all lost.

The loss amounted to about $1,200 with no insurance. The next day after the Wells barn was burned one of the Gaines brothers' large hay barns at Narrows, seven miles northeast of Afton, was burned to the ground. The cause of this fire is not known, as the barn was in flames when the fire was discovered. The loss of the Gaines brothers' barn is estimated at $4,000 or $7,000 and was covered by $5,000 insurance. Something like five large hay barns were lost here last year and it is hoped that these losses do not mean the beginning of another year of hay losses.

When This Girl Proposed She Said:
"And I have tried to make it clear to you in every way I know. I've asked you to this house, times without number. I've played tennis with you, and walked and talked with you, and ridden your rounds with you in your bumpy old milk wagon. I've simply thrown myself at your head, day after day. But you wouldn't understand. You wouldn't look at me. Nor listen. You mumbled about, and moped your ridiculous heart out. Because you thought I was such a blind, silly fool, I couldn't look just your power-ty and your ill-luck, and see how splendid you really are. Because you thought I was such a stick-up simpleton I'd not marry you, because you were a milkman. When I'd drive your milk cart, I'd chase the cows for you, if you wanted me to."—Woman's Home Companion.

The Universal Mania.
Lives there a man with soul so dead Who never to the world has said: "In thunder tones inspiring awe, 'They really ought to pass a law.'"

Foregone Conclusion.
